Raleigh, Tuesday, February 25, 1868.

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION OF THE CONSERVATIVE PEOPLE OF NORTH CAROLINA.

STATE ORGANIZATION.

A State Committee, to consist of a chairman and thirty members—six of whom shall reside in Raleigh and three in each judicial district—to be appointed by the State Convention.

The committee shall have power to maintain its organization by filling vacancies, &c., and shall take charge of all matters relating to organization, registrations, &c., and a proper canvass of the State.

DISTRICT ORGANIZATION.

The members of the State Committee in each judicial district shall constitute a district Committee for their respective districts and shall appoint a Chairman, and shall take charge of all matters relating to county organization, &c., in their respective districts; and shall report all matters relating thereto, to the Chairman of the State Committee.

COUNTY ORGANIZATION.

It is recommended that each County, by popular meetings or through the medium of existing organization, appoint a County Committee, to consist of at least two persons from each Captain's District within its limits.

The County Committee shall take charge of all matters of registration, local organization, &c., within the County, and is requested to make monthly reports to the Chairman of the District Committee, and when necessary, to inform him of such local matters as may require the attention of the District Committee.

It is further recommended that each County Committee cause to be enrolled the names of all the registered voters of their county, who are willing to act and vote with this organization—no man to be thus enrolled without his express consent; and, also, that they cause to be enrolled on a separate list the names of all those who are entitled to register, but who have not done so, and that they use every exertion to secure their registration and active co-operation.

PLATFORM.

The Conservative people of North Carolina, having by their delegates assembled in Convention at Raleigh, on the 5th of February, 1868, to consider the present anomalous condition of the State, and of the country, and to consult together upon the grievances which now afflict and threaten them, and the course of action proper to be adopted in the trying circumstances which surround them, do resolve and declare

1. Our unalterable devotion to the principles of Constitutional liberty, and our fealty to the government of the United States, as set forth in the Federal Constitution. That we sincerely and in good faith accept the legitimate and legal results of the late war, and do hereby reiterate our oft repeated declaration, that we most heartily desire peace and concord with our sister States, and with the entire people of the United States.

2. Resolved, That regarding the Constitution of the United States as the source of all power in the administration of the government, and that the powers of the Executive, Legislative and Judicial department are equal and co-ordinate, as defined by that instrument, we do respectfully and solemnly protest against the enforcement upon our people, of the Reconstruction Acts, and policy of Congress, as unconstitutional, unwise and destructive to society, and violative of that great principle of American politics, that each State shall have the exclusive control of its own internal offices.

3. Resolved, That it is the opinion of this Convention that the great and all absorbing issue, now soon to be presented to the people of the State, is negro suffrage and negro equality, if not supremacy, and whether hereafter in North Carolina and the South, the white man is to be placed politically and, as a consequence, socially, upon a footing of equality with the negro, and, in many localities, subject to his government as a superior. That we are utterly opposed to such change in our government and in our social relations, and that we do hereby earnestly recommend to the people of the State to manfully meet the issue now attempted to be forced upon them, and to use every proper measure within their power to avert the impending mischief.

4. Resolved, That while we are unalterably opposed to political and social equality with the black race, we yet have no unjust prejudicies against that race, that we are determined, by just laws, to protect them fully in all their civil rights, and to confer upon them all privileges which can be done consistently with the safety and welfare of both races.

5. Resolved, That the distressed and impoverished condition of our people earnestly demands the speediest and wisest measures of relief that the Legislature can devise.

6. Resolved, That this Convention recognizes, with feelings of gratitude, the heroic and patriotic efforts of the President of the United States, to restore the Union and harmony and good will among the American people.

7. Resolved, That this Convention regards the Supreme Court of the United States as the legitimate expounder in the last resort of the Constitution—and believe that its rights and powers, in that respect, should be preserved intact as established by law in the earlier and better days of the republic, and that any serious impairment thereof, by legislation or otherwise, will be destructive to the best interests of the country, and dangerous to the liberties of the people.

8. Resolved, That despairing of any restoration of the Southern States under the conduct of that organization which now controls the proceedings of Congress, waiving all former party feeling and prejudice, this Convention does most unhesitatingly recommend and invite the hearty co-operation of all the good people of North Carolina with the Democrats, and Conservative men of the North and West, who are now nobly struggling for the maintenance of the Constitution of the United States, and the restoration of the Southern States to their rights in the Union, on the solid foundation of harmony and peace.

9. Resolved, That this Convention elect four delegates and four alternates for the State at large, to represent the conservative people of North Carolina in the next Democratic National Convention, and that it recommend to the conservative people of the several Congressional Districts, to appoint delegates at an early day to represent them in said Convention.

10. Resolved, That when an election shall be ordered for the ratification of a new State Constitution, the Executive Committee for the State, hereafter to be appointed by this Convention, be instructed, if the time shall be sufficient to call a Convention of the Conservative people of the State, to put in nomination candidates for the various State offices whose election shall then be ordered, and if there shall not be sufficient time to call said Convention, to put in nomination sound Conservative men for said office.

Raleigh, Tuesday, February 25, 1868.

THE feverish excitement begotten by the order of the President removing Mr. Stanton has partially subsided. The people begin to see that the dangers, which they thought so great and imminent, were really children of their own imaginations. Terrified Congressmen have so recovered their senses and their composure, since it has been ascertained that the President contemplates no immediate, forcible ejection of the puppet in temporary occupancy of the office of the Secretary of War. The presence of Generals Grant and Emory in the office of Mr. Stanton and the tramping of armed sentinels in front thereof lose all dramatic effect when contrasted with the dignified and peaceable attitude of the President.

The order of the President came suddenly upon the Secretary. Elate with the triumph won by the treachery of the General of the Army, he little thought of the blow which impended. In full enjoyment of the perquisites of his office, he cared nothing for the refusal of the President to accord him official recognition. Friends—conspirators against the peace and prosperity of the people—had hastened to tender their congratulations upon his successful resumption of the position from which he had been driven in disgrace, and to assure him of their aid in resistance to any attempt to deprive him of that which they knew to be dearer than his soul—his right to draw upon the public treasury. Beaming with smiles, felicitating himself upon the permanent possession of his place, the Secretary grew boastful and arrogant, and forgot, perhaps, the ignoble manner of his reinstatement. In this hour of supreme delight and of triumph, when to him the future seemed big with promise of fat things, came the stern, positive order of his superior directing him to vacate his office and deliver its books, records and material to a duly appointed successor. The blow staggered him. With the instincts of a coward, he sought support, and rushing frantically to Congress piteously appealed for succor.—The answer reassured him, and acquiring audacity by association he has held possession of the building appointed to the office he has lost up to date.

The frightened Secretary had no need of alarm. The purposes of the President were entirely peaceful, and the demonstration of armed resistance was simply ridiculous. The actors, in the play, have sunk from heroes of a tragedy into players in a farce. The battle which they deemed would be fought for possession of the War Department will be a bloodless contest. The arguments will be paper pellets—not bullets, and instead of the rattle of musketry we shall have the subtleties of lawyers. The arbitrament of the sword will yield to the decision of a court.

In the meantime Congress has eagerly made the quarrel of the Secretary its own affair, and retaliates upon the President by offering articles of impeachment. Mr. Johnson quietly pursues his accustomed duties, and forgetting the clamor of his enemies, appeals from their hate to God and the American people.

NO MORE unscrupulous exhibition of partisanship and power has disgraced our legislation than was shown by the committee on elections in the cases of John Young Brown, of Kentucky, and Judge Butler, of Tennessee, delegates elect from their respective States to the lower House of the National Legislature. Upon the presentation of their credentials, objections were made to their admission to their seats, based upon charges of disloyalty to the government during the late war, and their cases were referred to the appropriate committees for investigation and report.

The proof offered, in the case of Mr. Brown, was a letter written by him to the Louisville Courier in 1861, which by no means supports the charge made against him. It was in evidence before the committee that during the entire war he was in active sympathy with the Union party in Kentucky, which had for its leaders such men as Senator Guthrie and the Hon. James Speed, late Attorney General.

In the case of Judge Butler, ample and unquestioned testimony established the facts that he was offered a commission in the Confederate army, accepted it and endeavored to raise a regiment for that service. Failing in this, he was elected a member of the legislature, and was known as a most ardent Southern sympathiser.

Judge Butler is now a Radical; John Young Brown, a Democrat. Mr. Brown was refused his seat. The committee recommended that Congress extend amnesty to Judge Butler, excuse him from taking the test oath, and admit him to his seat upon the floor.

This is the spirit of Radical legislation. Loyalty and acceptance of Radical dogmas have become synonymous terms in our politics.

THE Convention has had the report of the committee on suffrage under consideration for quite a week, and nothing definite has been yet determined upon. The session last night was consumed in discussion of amendments offered by Messrs. Jones and Abbott. The amendment introduced by the former required the legislature to provide for a registration of voters, at such times as it might deem proper, and provided for an oath for voters, requiring them to swear to support the constitution and laws of the United States and of the State, and to accept the civil and political equality of all men, as a condition to either the exercise of the ballot or the holding of office. This proposition is simply infamous, and is dangerous in its tendencies, since it offers a premium on perjury.

Mr. Durham delivered in opposition to both these amendments, the ablest and most conclusive argument of the session, surpassing in force, logic and sarcasm any previous effort he has made upon the floor. The fallacious reasoning of the advocates of these proscriptive measures was thoroughly dissected and exposed, and their positions upon the question was attributed to its proper causes: the success of party and a spirit of malignant revenge.

THE HAPPY FAMILY,

(BY OUR SPECIAL REPORTER UNDER THE TABLE.)

[The reader is particularly requested to remember the fact that no Reporter for this paper is allowed on the floor, in the halls or in the galleries of the Convention, and consequently our reports are made from under the table, behind the scenes, or as may be otherwise ordered and convenient.]

THIRTY-FOURTH DAY.

SATURDAY, Feb. 22.

The suffrage question being under debate—

Mr. Heaton next arose. He was glad that they were approaching the settlement of this great question upon the birth-day of the father of his country, and he would have wished that the Farewell Address of that great man could have been read to this body, as the principles embodied in it underlaid the whole foundation of the government, and he hoped that at least some portions of it would be read, ere this day's work was done. Mr. H. went in a long argument upon the subject, and, in regard to the disfranchisement of a certain class, he said that, though the remembrances of the late rebellion, and the appeals of aged men upon this floor and the shrill notes of defiance from gentlemen on the other side, had made his bosom swell witnin him, yet he would not be driven from off the ground. He did not think that they should for an instant set aside their cool and sober judgment in coming to a conclusion in this matter.

Mr. Heaton did not exactly favor any of the reports. He thought they should conform to the acts of Congress—not go one jot beyond them, or fall one iota below them. He held that any Constitution that they might frame must conform in every particular to the reconstruction acts. As this plan is laid down, there was no other resource than to comply with it; and he thought, so far as voting is concerned, that when the State is reconstructed under that plan universal suffrage will practically prevail, but not universal amnesty, until the Congress choose to relieve men by a special act of legislation. He believes that there is a large class of men in the State, that should never hold office, and that while they would be allowed to vote yet many of them would grow grey before Congress would allow them to hold office.

In touching upon negro suffrage, and the rights of that class, he contended that the Declaration of Independence contained no clause that recognized the right of property in man, and that the noblest sentiment ever uttered by Madison was when he said that he (Madison) would not permit the word "slave" to appear in the Constitution.

Mr. Durham asked Mr. Heaton if the Declaration of Independence did not contain a pledge not to interfere with the African slave trade until 1808.

Mr. H. answered: "I know very well that the slave trade was permitted to exist until the year 1808, but was then abrogated as a great moral crime, and those who engaged in it were held to be pirates." Mr. Heaton continued for some time in his usual forcible (!) style, and in the course of his remarks produced and read a letter to the Convention from the great Jefferson.

Mr. Durham then went on with his remarks, and hoped that Mr. Pool would not, according to notice, call the previous question, as he was compelled to reply to some of the remarks of Mr. Heaton, the delegate from Craven.

Mr. Durham alluded to the fact that the name of Washington had been used merely to hush the knell about to be sounded over the death of the liberties of the people of North Carolina and the South.

Washington was, himself, a large slave holder, and never a word fell from his lips advocating the freeing of those slaves, in order to give them suffrage and privileges, to the degradation of a portion of his own color and fellow-citizens. In regard to the foul aspersions cast upon the people of this State, who had done their duty to their country, in defending its sacred rights, he would defend them, or, at least, that portion of them who were his constituents. As to outrages and wrongs perpetrated upon humanity, he could charge ten cases upon Northern troops, where one was committed by the Southern soldiers in the late war. Northern men charged upon us the commission of a great wrong in attempting a separation from the Union. That was their version of it, but he honestly believed that wrongs had been inflicted, that our rights had been outraged, and we acted as men should act,—took up arms to resist encroachments; and those who assail their honesty, in so acting, and their belief in the justness of their cause, spoke most falsely.

We believe now in the principles upon which the war was fought, but we accept the issue of that war as settling forever that for which we contended. We have accepted that, as a legitimate result of the war; and now, is it the part of a magnanimous conqueror, to say that a large class of our intelligent fellow-citizens shall go down to their graves, deprived of their rights as citizens?

The real intention of the Radicals in this matter was to persecute all men, who will not swear to support the Republican party. Some of you do not say it directly, but you do indirectly, while Messrs. Candler and Congleton have, with more boldness, come out and said so openly. All of you, in truth and fact, legislate for the same end. This is a pretty Constitution to offer the should-be-free and intelligent citizens of this State! You come out and say plainly that, failing to make them come into your measures, by honorable argument, you intend, by infamous test oaths, to keep them from opposing you at the ballot box.

Mr. Candler, the sucking babe who volunteered in Capt. Z. B. Vance's company from Buncombe, desired to refer Mr. Durham to the loyal Constitution adopted by the Convention of Alabama.

Mr. Durham had seen that too, and declared it equally as infamous and iniquitous as that which this Radical Convention would endeavor to fasten upon the people of North Carolina. But the people of Alabama had rejected that loyal Constitution, though the negroes had a large majority in the State. It was too monstrously hellish even for them.

The youthful Knight of the apron string from Buncombe, said that loyal men had framed it.

Mr. Durham: "Loyal! loyal! such words did not come with very good grace from a man who had deserted from the Confederate Army, after he had volunteered in its service.

The President moved as if he would interpose to shield his worthy progeny, but Mr. Candler hoped the gentleman from Cleaveland might be allowed to go on with his Candler's record, but Mr. Durham having "said it all" paused for a reply, when

Young soap-locks stated that he was a mere boy, indeed o'er young to marry, and entirely too tender to leave his mammy, and that when he found he was in the wrong pew, which he did in a short time, he retired from the army, and as an humble citizen of the commonwealth of North Carolina, sought that ease and comfort in the enemy's country denied him in his own; in fact exiled himself in the rear of the Union armies to peddle cakes and "sich."

Mr. Durham thought he had seen men under fire, whose honest convictions, if ascertained, would doubtless prove that they thought themselves "in the wrong pew." He, Mr. Durham, was not of age when the war began. He had no vote, but if he had had, he would have cast it for secession, believing, as he did, that it was a right, and a sacred one. He had fought in the ranks of his countrymen, and was proud of his record, believing now, as he did then, that the cause was right and just.

An old parliamentarian, at this point, cried out "hear! hear!" The cry awoke the Chair, who fancying in his half wakening state, that the "rebels" or conscript officers were coming, in a manner betokening the wildest alarm, shouted in response, "where, oh! where?"

Mr. Durham resumed, insisting that he surrendered in good faith, determining to abide the issue faithfully, as did the whole people of his State and country.

Mr. Durham proceeded at some length to argue the various propositions and amendments under consideration, and concluded by branding the whole thing as a vile and iniquitous outrage, gotten up to choke off all opposition to the Radical party, since the test of heir loyalty was fidelity to that unprincipled, dishonest and dangerous political organization.

After Mr. Heaton had had another "baul," whining his loyalty like the whang-a-doodle mourning for its first born,

Rev. Mr. Aminadab Ashley rose to his feet in an angry, boisterous and excited state of being, and for several minutes indulged in that slang, abuse and denunciation peculiar to ministers of the gospel of the Ashley klud.

Mr. Candler, the same whose mother is ignorant of the fact that he has "strayed"—one of the signers of a minority report, had not changed his opinion a particle. He was in favor of disfranchising all traitors, particularly such as Vance and Graham, whose influence and ability he estimated at hundreds and thousands of votes. Everybody, he said, who participated in the rebellion, ought to be thankful for escaping with their necks. The blood of loyal thousands cried to this Convention for vengeance. He wanted to disfranchise them all, and relieve such good and true, as W. W. Holden. He proposed a substitute, which the chair ruled out of order, as two substitutes were already before the house.

The Tourgee having kept quiet about as long as his nature would permit, and longer than any body expected, desired to know what effect the previous question would have—would it cut off amendments?

The chair decided not.

Mr. Pool saw the attendance was so small that a full vote could not be had, and moved adjournment to ten o'clock on Monday.

The animals had been allowed such loose rein during the morning and so much of it, that it was found almost impossible to cage them, but after some little heading off and a liberal use of the ring master's lash, the exercises with which the Washington-Chowan-French-man proposed to dignify the birth day of Washington were brought to a close, and the "keepers" proceeded to "feed" and "moisten."

THE JACKALS AND THE HARPIES.

FAMILY FEAST OVER THE DEAD CARCAS OF REBELLION.

THIRTY-SIXTH DAY.

MONDAY, Feb. 24.

PETITIONS, &C.

The following petitions were presented:

Harris, (nigger,) of Wake a petition for divorce. Referred.

Mr. Andrews, of Wake, a similar petition. Referred.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES, &C.

Mr. Pool, of Pasquotank, submitted from the Committee on Relief, two ordinances on the subject, which were ordered to printed.

Mr. Forkner presented the following report from the Committee on Final Adjournment: Resolved, That this Convention will adjourn sine die on Tuesday, the 10th day of March, at 12 o'clock.

The report was accepted, and on motion of Mr. Abbott was made the Special Order for Monday, at 10½ o'clock.

Mr McDonald, of Chatham, offered a resolution favoring the establishment of a penitentiary. Referred.

Mr. Colgrove offered a resolution lim'ting the time allowed each speaker in debate to 10 minutes. Lies over.

The Tourgee offered a resolution in favor of those members of the Convention, who did not reach the city in time for the original assembling of the Convention. The rules were suspended, and the resolution passed.

Mr. Abbott introduced an ordinance incorporating the North Western and North Carolina Railroad. Referred.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The Special Order being the Report of the Committee on Immigration and Statistics, establishing an Agency in New York City, was taken up.

The question recurred on the amendment offered by Mr. McDonald, of Chatham, striking out the words "the Governor shall appoint" and inserting "the people shall elect."

Mr. Jones, of Washington, was opposed to this multiplicity of offices, to drain the treasury. The State was impoverished and her credit too low for reckless and extravagant expenditures. We had already quite a quantity of labor, which it was our duty to shape. The peasants of Germany and other countries would not come here as hirelings. They desired to become owners of the soil. Land owners should look to the colored and poor white labor as their only supply for the next century. They had the land, the laborers had the sinew. Let them turn their attention in that direction.

Mr. Abbott said that if Mr. Jones were to go to New York and make the remarks made here, that the newsboys of the Battery and elsewhere would ridicule him.

The hour of 11 having arrived, the discussion of the report was postponed for the consideration of the

SUFFRAGE QUESTION.

Mr. Pool, as chairman of the committee rose to close the debate. He said that in the reports of the North Carolinian for Friday night he noticed that Mr. Durham had alluded to him. He then denounced the assertion that the negro was a species of monkey, and denied that social would follow political equality. Threats had been made by this class of persons in 1861, and they had been severely whipped. [Did you assist in giving or taking the same. Mr. Pool? Or was your carcass kept at a very safe distance from bayonets and bullets?] They had threatened in 1867, and been defeated at the ballot-box by a majority exceeding 60,000. He entreated the Convention to rid itself of prejudice and to frame a good and just constitution that posterity would admire. He had talked with the colored people [Mr. Pool is fond of such company] and they only asked liberty and the common rights of man, [you wish to give them very uncommon rights, Mr. Pool.]

Mr. Pool proceeded to argue the question lengthily. We have not space for a full report of his remarks.

The second debate then closed.

The report of the majority of the committee was resumed. The first section being read,

Mr. Heaton moved "three months" in the 5th line and insert "30 days," [requiring 30 days residence in a county, instead of 3 months, as in the originial report.]

Mr. Pool accepted the amendment, and it was finally adopted after much discussion.

Mr. French, of Bladen, offered a substitute disfranchising all who, having held prior to the war executive or judicial offices, and afterwards engaged in rebellion, but providing that the Legislature may remove such disabilities, and the substitute shall not be construed to conflict with any subsequent action of Congress removing disabilities.

After long discussion, decided by the following vote:

AYES—Messrs. Bryan, Carter, Candler, Dickey, Fisher, French, of Bladen, Galloway, Garland, Graham of Montgomery, Gully, Kinney, Logan, May, Moore, Murphy, Parks, Petree, Ray, Rhodes, Robbins, Rose, Teague, Tourgee, Turner.

NOES—Messrs. Abbott, Andrews, Ashley, Aydlott, Baker, Benbow, Blume, Bradley, Carey, Cherry, Chilison, Colgrove, Cox, Daniel, Dowd, Duckworth, Durham, Ellis, Eppes, Etheridge, Forkner, Franklin, French of Chowan, Fullings, George, Glover, Graham, of Orange, Gunter, Hay, Hayes, of Robeson, Heaton, Highsmith, Hobbs, Hodnett, Hoffler, Hollowell, Hood, Hyman, Ing, Jones, of Caldwell, Jones, of Washington, King, of Lincoln, King, of Lenoir, Legg, Lennon, Long, Mann, Marler, McCubbins, Merritt, McDonald, of Chatham, McDonald, of Moore, Morton, Nance, Nicholson, Parker, Peterson, Pierson, Pool, Ragland, Renfrow, Rich, Rodman, Sanderlin, Smith, Stilley, Stilwell, Sweet, Taylor, Trogden, Tucker, Watts, Welker, Williams, of Sampson, Williams, of Wake.

The question then recurred upon an amendment offered by Mr. Jones, of Washington, on Saturday last, but the motion was lost.

The first section was then put and adopted.

Mr. Jones, of Washington, moved to strike out the second section, and insert another providing for registration and oath of loyalty against secession and in favor of the Republican party—the political equality of all men.

Mr. Tourgee wanted the printed minority oath.

Mr. Pool wanted to lie on the table.

Not permitted to lie on the table by the following vote:

Ayes—Messrs. Ashley, Baker, Benbow, Bradley, Cherry, Colgrove, Daniel, Dowd, Durham, Ellis, Etheridge, Forkner, George, Graham, of Orange, Heaton, Hodnett, Hollowell, Ing, Jones, of Caldwell, King, of Lenoir, Legg, Lennon, Long, Marler, McCubbins, Merritt, McDonald, of Chatham, McDonald, of Moore, Mullican, Nance, Nicholson, Parker, Peterson, Pool, Rich, Rodman, Sanderlin, Stilley, Sweet, Taylor, Watts, Williams, of Sampson, Williams, of Wake.

Noes—Messrs. Andrews, Aydlott, Blume, Bryan, Carter, Candler, Chillson, Cox, Dickey, Duckworth, Eppes, Fisher, Franklin, French, of Bladen, French, of Chowan, Fullings, Galloway, Garland, Glover, Gully, Gunter, Harris, of Wake, Harris, of Franklin, Hay, Hayes, of Robeson, Highsmith, Hobbs, Hoffler, Hood, Hyman, Jones, of Washington, Kinney, Lee, Mann, May, Moore, Morton, Murphy, Parks, Petree, Pierson, Ragland, Ray, Renfrow, Rhodes, Robbins, Rose, Smith, Stilwell, Teague, Tourgee, Tucker, Turner, Welker.

Question then recurred upon the amendment of the Tourgee to the amendment of Mr. Jones. Lost by the following vote:

AYES—Messrs. Andrews, Bryan, Carey, Carter, Chandler, Chillson, Duckworth, Fisher, Franklin, French, of Bladen, Galloway, Garland, Glover, Graham, of Montgomery, Gully, Gunter, Harris, of Franklin, Hay, Ing, Kinney, Logan, Mann, Moore, Murphy, Parks, Ragland, Ray, Rhodes, Robbins, Rose, Teagne, Tourgee, Turner.

NOES—Messrs. Abbott, Ashley, Aydlott, Baker, Benbow, Blume, Bradley, Cherry, Colgrove, Cox, Daniel, Dickey, Dowd, Durham, Ellis, Eppes, Etheridge, Forkner, French, of Chowan, Fullings, George, Graham, of Orange, Hayes, of Robeson, Heaton, Highsmith, Hobbs, Hoffler, Hollowell, Hyman, Jones, of Caldwell, Jones, of Washington, King, of Lincoln, King, of Lenoir, Legg, Lennon, Long, May, Marler, McCubbins, Merritt, McDonald, of Chatham, McDonald, of Moore, Morton, Mullican, Nance, Nicholson, Parker, Petree, Peterson, Pierson, Pool, Renfrow, Rich, Rodman, Sanderlin, Smith, Stilly, Stilwell, Sweet, Taylor, Trogden, Watts, Williams, of Sampson, Williams, of Wake.

Mr. Abbott, the Shaker, wanted an oath according to his idee, which meant fealty to the Republican party, opposition to white men, and a disregard of honesty, and ignoring manliness and honor.

Pending action on the amendment of Mr. Abbott, the Convention adjourned to 7½ o'clock P. M.

NEWS AND MISCELLANY.

In regard to the admission of Alabama into the Union, it may be said that the general feeling of the Republican members appears to be that of opposition to Mr. Bingham's bill, and as soon as definite intelligence is received from the State, it is thought that, should the Constitution prove to have been defeated, a new election will be ordered. Gen. Butler, Mr. Stevens, and others, announce themselves in favor of a new election.

The Philadelphia papers record the death of David Boyd, Esq., who retired from business thirty years ago, For fifty years he was a member of the Masonic fraternity and of the Hibernian Society, always attending, during that long time, the anniversary festival of the latter on St. Patrick's day. OUR NOON DISPATCHES.

Interesting from Washington.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.

Mr. Stanton has been lodging in the War Department since last Friday. He was recommended to this course by Congressmen who apprehended an attempt would be made by President Johnson to take possession of the office by force. Gen. Grant yesterday detailed Col. Carr of Gen. Emory's staff to remain at the War office, and the guards have been doubled.

Many members of Congress called on Stanton to-day and held protracted interviews. They assured him of the support of all the Republican members. Their party, they said, would act as a unit in both houses, and now that impeachment was fairly inaugurated there would be no faltering until the matter is completed.

After impeachment passes to-morrow, Stanton will go home as his friends think, after that event the President will venture on noaggressive measures.

It is ascertained that Grant and Emory, the latter commanding the department, will obey no order of the President that conflicts with the tenure of office bill, or the expressed wish of the Senate. It has not transpired, however, that the President has issued or intends issuing any such order.

In the whole matter, so far, the President has confined himself to civil proceedings, and has directed that to-morrow an application be made to the court for a quo warranto.

Nearly all the Democratic members, Mr. Seward, many prominent citizens and strangers called on the President to-day.

The excitement which pervades other circles is not perceptible at the White House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.

At half-past ten this morning Gen. Thomas went to the War Department, ordered Stanton to vacate and demanded the mails. Stanton again refused. Gen. Thomas went to the Adjutant General's office but issued no orders. Neither party has yet issued any order which requires recognition by other departments.

There is comparative quiet this morning. No more war talk. Application has been made for a quo warranto against Stanton.

The House is still debating the impeachment resolution. Its passage is still regarded as certain.

Senator Morton, of Indiana, is positively reported as saying that his party could not stand the pressure, and that the present feelings and purposes of the House could not be sustained.

OUR MIDNIGHT DISPATCHES.

Congressional—The President to be Impeached.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.

Senate—Unimportant.

House—Session was cut up into speeches of from three to twenty minutes, crude, emergency speeches generally explaining predetermined votes.

Impeachment passed by strict party vote, except Stewart, of New York, and Carey, of Ohio, who voted with the Democrats.

Stevens and Bingham were appointed a committee to announce to the Senate the action of the House.

Committee to prepare articles of impeachment—Boutwell, Stevens, Bingham, Wilson, Logan, Julian and Ward.

This committee have power to send for persons and papers. Adjourned.

Washington Items.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.

The most profound silence followed the announcement of the vote on impeachment.

Stanton said to-day he wished that reporters would let him alone.

The day closes with Staunton dining in the war department with Chandler and others.

The President at dinner, Thomas at his home, and everything quiet.

The President is reported as saying that he recognized no one but Thomas as Secretary of War, and meant to recognize no one else.

He concluded the interview by saying God and the people would make everything right and save our institutions.

The President appends to his message, nominating Ewing as Secretary of War, the assertion that he has not, and does not intend to, violate the tenure of office or any other law, and argues elaborately his right even under that law to remove Stanton and appoint an ad interim Secretary.

The following are specimens of to-day's speeches:

Mr. Payne, who had the floor, said, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Shanks.

Mr. Shanks said: Mr. Speaker, my opinion is that in this emergency this House should speak but one word and strike but one blow, and I desire that the blow should come first. I am tired, sir, of this protracted discussion, which postpones an hour that the people have long desired to see. I am in favor of the official death of Andrew Johnson, and I think we should vote his impeachment without debate. I am not surprised that one who commenced his career in drunkenness should end it in crime.

It is stated that McCulloch will not recognize Stanton's official requisitions.

Death of a Telegraph Official.

LONDON, Feb. 23.

Chas. Q. Stewart, chairman of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company, died suddenly in board room, of apoplexy.

From Richmond.

RICHMOND, Feb. 23.

Notwithstanding snow and rain to-day, the side walks in vicinity of newspaper offices are crowded with persons waiting for and discussing news from Washington.

In the circuit court to-day, in a suit for a draft drawn here on a New Orleans banking house while that city was in possession of Federal troops, the judge decided that a contract made when the parties reside in cities occupied by different armies in time of war, was null and void.

The convention spent the day in discussing suffrage.

The announcement of impeachment was received with demonstrations of approval on the floor and in the galleries, which was checked by the chair.

South Carolina Convention.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 23.

In the Convention, the day was consumed in discussing whether the Governor should be a resident of the State two or four years—question undecided.

A resolution was introduced restoring property to minors, sold during the war for Confederate money.

There was a strike this morning among the negroes on the wharves, threatening serious results. Gen. Burns, the new mayor, appeared in person with a file of soldiers and dispersed rioters, arresting the ring leaders.

Georgia Convention, &c.

ATLANTA, Feb. 24.

News from Washington causes great excitement here and elsewhere throughout the State.

In accordance with a resolution of the Convention, Gen. Meade orders that imprisonment for debt is prohibited, and hereafter no bail process shall be issued out of the State courts.

All persons imprisoned for debt are to be immediately discharged. This order remains in force until the election on the Constitution, or until revoked from headquarters.

THE

NORTH CAROLINIAN,

A DAILY,

Democratic Newspaper,

PUBLISHED AT

RALEIGH, N. C.

W. A. HEARNE, JOHN W. DUNHAM,

EDITORS.

The NORTH CAROLINIAN is Democratic in its principles. It is unalterably opposed to Negro Suffrage, Military rule, and Reconstruction upon the basis of Congressional enactment.

Its Editors believe and teach that this is a

WHITE MAN'S GOVERNMENT,

FRAMED BY THE BRAINS, AND

WON BY THE BLOOD OF WHITE MEN,

FOR THE BENEFIT OF WHITE MEN,

AND THAT IT SHOULD BE

CONTROLLED BY WHITE MEN ONLY.

As there is but ONE NATIONAL ORGANIZATION professing these sentiments and committed to their maintenance, the NORTH CAROLINIAN will steadily advocate the abandonment of all other party names and organizations, and yield a hearty co-operation with that organization—the NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

THE NORTH CAROLINIAN,

Will contain the freshest News, by telegraph and otherwise. Full reports of all Legislative Assemblies will be furnished its readers.

Particular attention will be paid to State news, and each number will contain a complete epitome of every incident reported in the State press.

MARKETS will be carefully reported.

The Weekly North Carolinian

Is the largest and handsomest paper in the State and will be filled with choice family reading and selected literary matter.

STATE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The gentlemen composing the State Executive Committee, are respectfully requested to meet in this city on Friday, the 28th inst., at 11 o'clock. A full attendance is much desired.

By order of the

CHAIRMAN.

CITY AND STATE.

An Ordinance

In relation to the Courts, Printing of the Laws, Imprisonment, and providing for the Election of Officers and others by the people.

The following ordinance will be introduced, ordered to be printed and otherwise acted upon by the Convention, as soon as the suffrage question is disposed of. It will be presented not by John A. McDonald, of Chatham:

Seeing, That the Convention is bothered about a plan for the Courts; and the great end being to have law cheap and speedy, however nasty it may be,

Resolved, That we have no Courts; that any body having any money owing to him or other complaint, shall call a town meeting at the court house or other grocery, or if in the country, at the cross roads, and the majority shall decide the matter. Every man shall be his own lawyer, and shall charge no fees. There shall be no costs but the liquor bill, which the party shall pay according to vote, if he is able. There shall be no whipping for stealing, but the gentleman shall be put in jail. All persons in jail shall be provided for in health and comfort, and not compelled to use milk with their coffee. There shall be no difference of color, but all shall be equal; and, whereas, the male race and the female race have been created different in their natures, inter-marriages between them are hereby forever prohibited. All the law shall be printed in one small volume, in big plain print, with pictures for the hard words. All Latin, Norman, Saxon, or British words, are hereby abolished, and none but American words, or those of African descent, shall be used. The words "ex post facto," being Latin, shall be sticken out of the bill of rights, and three American words, meaning the same thing, put in their place, as soon as they can be found. No history shall be written except that of Mother Goose; and all proceedings shall be dated in the year I, as the case may be.

Resolved, further, That all schoolmasters and professors of mathematics or chemistry, and also all lawyers and doctors, and cashiers of banks, and engineers on railroads, be elected by the people: and as the people are the only fit judges as to who shall be maintained at their expense, no person shall go into a penitentiary or other public prison until he shall produce a certificate of good moral character, and be elected thereto, by a majority of the qualified voters of his judicial district.

Throwing Himself Away.

We are sorry to see that the A. H. Galloway, the 'alf and 'alf delegate from New Hanover, is throwing himself away.

He has, we understand, hitherto borne a good character, and he says some of the best blood of the South flows through his veins. As an evidence of his tendency to demoralization, we hear that he has recently expressed a readiness to let out a portion of his blood, provided he can do so with safety to the balance. This argues that he is losing his self-respect, which we knew he could not maintain, associating on terms of equality with such white men as those he was seen in company with last week.

The people of New Hanover expect their only native delegate to conduct himself becomingly, and we merely allude to the conduct of Galloway in permitting these white men to associate with him on terms of equality to admonish him that his people do not expect their delegate to degrade himself by mingling in the society of the low and depraved.

We would also call his attention to the fact that only "birds of a feather flock together."

Remarkable Conversion.

Ten years ago the Reverend (?) Welker, alias Aminidab Sleeh, of Guilford, was the most "rantankerous" pro-slavery man in North Carolina.—To-day the self-same, canting, ranting hypocrite is the most blatant, foul-mouthed champion of nigger-Radicalism to be found among the jackals and harpies of the capitol menagerie. His conversion is of a far more startling and complete nature than that of Saul as recorded in the Bible.

Mr. Allen Rose.

The Salisbury Old North State says Mr. Rose, a delegate to the Convention from Rowan and Davie, has not sufficient capacity to entitle him to be held responsible for his acts, and therefore advises the people of Rowan to entertain no other feeling for him but that of good humored contempt.

Cotton in Raleigh.

For the benefit of those who are disposed to underrate our city as a place of business, we would state that within less than two weeks, over two thousand bales of cotton have been sold in this market.

Robbery.

The smoke house of Major Devereux, of this city, was entered by robbers on Sunday night, and stripped of its contents.

Under the head of an independent Judiciary, the Old North State thinks our courts will become "a bed of justice, upon which justice will forever sleep," and says:

"Of all the features of the New Constitution, we regard this as the very worst. If the convention cannot be brought to change it before its adjournment, and the people fail to vote it down, it will not be long before they will be unable to say ita lex, scripta est.

Weldon, according to the News, is becoming a lively spot. It is the "jumping off place" of lovers fleeing from the wrath of stout-hearted and obstinate parents. Every week, one or more couples appear on the threshold of matrimony and are made one beneath the hospitable roof of Dr. Blacknall. Our pleasant cotemporary of the News, in commenting on these runaway matches, says he "darsn't venter."

Mr. Benj. F. Gary, the newly appointed sheriff of Halifax, vice Mr. James Snow resigned, has entered upon the duties of his office. Mr. G. is spoken of as a gentleman of capacity and industry, and will doubtless make a good officer.

The Salisbury public schools have been thoroughly organized and the classification completed. The Old North State commends the energy and industry of Mr. Stewart, the superintendent, and approves the classification system adopted, which divides the students into five classes or grades.

The Native Virginian says sensibly, if Sargeant Bates comes this way with his flag, we in Virginia, will not make any hellaballoo over him. We will treat him kindly, and—let him proceed with his flag.

A sneaking, miscegenating, thieving, down East Yankee, for intermeddling in contracts between negro laborers and white employers in Halifax county, received a sound and well merited thrashing the other day, according to the Weldon News.

The concert at the Charlotte Female Institute, on Friday night, is spoken of in the highest terms of praise by the press of that place. This institution is a success under the management and direction of those accomplished gentlemen, the Messrs. Burwell.

The citizens of Charlotte met on Saturday evening, the 22d, in Treloar Hall, and organized a Conservative Club, of which Z. B. Vance, J. W. Osborne, H. C. Jones, J. H. Wilson, John A. Young and Wm. Johnson are members.

The Roanoke News says lands in Halifax were sold last week under the Sheriff's hammer at ruinous sacrifices. One tract of a thousand acres sold for eleven cents per acre—defective title.

Mr. C. H. Robinson has purchased the place of Dr. H. H. Robinson known as Belvidere, near Wilmington, and is going largely into the cultivation of fruit and truck gardening.

The number of idle negroes is said to be increasing throughout the State, and crime is correspondingly on the increase.

Portions of the burnt district in Wilmington are to be speedily rebuilt.

Mr. Sutton, late of the Sargent troupe, opens at Thalian Hall, Wilmington, to-night.

The twenty-second was not observed at Wilmington.

The receipts of the second lecture of Dr. Deems, at Wilmington, were light.

Smithville has been visited by a destructive fire.

Real estate in Wilmington is selling above the valuation of 1860.

LATEST NEWS TO THE FARMERS OF North Carolina.

Your attention is called to my large stock of Agricultural Implements, Iron Steel, &c., &c.

Corn and Cotton Planters, Corn Shellers, Hay, Shuck and Corn Stalk Cutters, Fan Mills, Plows, of every kind, Harrows and Cultivators, Spades, Shovels Forks, Brier Hooks, Iron Axles, Springs, Cart & Wagon Boxes, &c.

I call particular attention to BILLUP'S CENTREBOARD COTTON SCRAPER, and to BILLUP'S DIXIE PLOW. The first is warranted to be the best Scraper ever yet invented, and the Farmers are requested to test its merits in connection with any other kind. The Dixie Plow is freer from choking than any other yet made; will pass through the ground with less power, and do better work than any other kind. This is no vain boast. 'Tis easy to claim superiority; hence I ask a trial.

If Farmers are not satisfied, the money will be refunded.

WILSON COUNTY, Sept. 10, 1867.

DR. J. J. LAWRENCE:

Dear Sir—My youngest daughter, aged five years, has been dreadfully afflicted with Scrofula nearly all her life. I tried a great many Physicians, but without relieving her much; in fact, most of them said there was no hope of cure.—During the last Spring she was worse than ever, her body and limbs being covered with sores and blotches—with face and eyes badly ulcerated and swollen. Whilst in this condition, I was advised by Dr. L. A. Stith to try your Rosadalis. I at once procured three bottles, and commenced giving it to her. The effect was magical. In less than a month, to my great astonishment, she was entirely well.

After taking it a few weeks, my son became and remains entirely well. Yours truly,

WHEELER & WILSON'S LOCK STITCH FAMILY SEWING M

The North Carolinian.

Raleigh, Tuesday, February 25, 1868.

To My Departed Father.

The following beautiful verses were written by the celebrated "Stonewall Jackson." They breathe the very escence of poetry:

As die the embers on the hearth
And o'er the floor the shaddows fall,
And creeps the chirping cricket forth,
And ticks the death-watch on the wall.
I see a form in yonder chair,
That grows beneath the waning light,
There are the wan, sad features—there
The pallid brow and locks of white.

My father! when they laid thee down,
And heap'd the clay upon thy breast,
And left thee sleeping all alone,
Upon thy narrow couch of rest:
I know not why I could not weep,
The soothing drops refused to roll,
And oh, that grief is wild and deep
Which settles tearless on the soul.

But when I saw thy vacant chair,
Thine idle hat upon the wall,
The book—the pencil'd passage—there
Thine eye had rested last of all;
The tree beneath whose friendly shades
Thy trembling feet had wander'd forth,
The very prints those feet had made
When last they feebly trod the earth.

I thought while countless ages fled
Thy vacant chair would vacant stand,
Unworn thy hat, thy book unread,
Effaced thy footsteps from the sand;
And widow'd in this cheerless world
The heart that gave its love to thee;
Torn like the vine whose tendrils curled
More closely round the falling tree.

Oh, father! then for her and thee,
Gush'd madly forth the scalding tears,
And oft, and long, and bitterly,
Those tears have gush'd in latter years,
For as the world grows cold around,
And things assume their own real hue,
'Tis sad to find that love is found
Alone above the stars with you.

The Chinese and Mr. Burlingame's Mission.

It has already been announced that Mr. Anson Burlingame has been named by the Chinese government as its first ambassador to the Christian powers. Letters from Pekin show how this appointment came to be made and accepted.

Mr. Burlingame, as American minister, gave the Chinese government ample proof of his diplomatic ability, and of his sincere friendliness to China. He took the lead in urging the adoption of what is known as the co-operative policy, by which the autonomy of that country has been guaranteed, and the old method of extorting concessions by menace and force has been discarded. He drew up a paper construing the doubtful passages in the treaties, which has been accepted by all the members of the diplomatic body at Pekin. He induced the Chinese government to employ Mr. Pumpilly to make a thorough examination of the coal mines of Northern China. He procured the grant for the submarine telegraph from Conton to Niutsing. He has constantly aided the missionaries in their work; has used all his influence to promote the study of the European languages and the natural sciences in Pekin, and has induced the Chinese government to employ foreigners in the custom-houses and in other departments of the civil service.

Early in November Mr. Burlingame informed the Chinese government that he intended to resign his post and return to his country. It was attempted, unsuccessfully, to dissuade him from this purpose. Finding him resolute, Prince Kung tendered him the compliment of a farewell dinner. All the members of the council of foreign affairs were present. Several mandarins spoke of the great service which Mr. Burlingame had done China during his visit to Europe and this country in 1865. Mr. Burlingame answered that he would be ready to say a good word for their country when the chance should present itself to him.

The idea of the embassy seems to have been suggested by these speeches. The inspector general of customs and the secretary of the British legation were consulted, and two days after the dinner a deputation of high officials waited on Mr. Burlingame and offered him an appointment as ambassador. He accepted on the single condition that the embassy "should be placed in all respects on a footing of the highest respectability." Mr. Burlingame placed his resignation as American minister in the hands of Dr. Williams, his secretary of legation. A week afterwards he received his credentials from the hands of Prince Kung. The document is written on yellow silk, and bears the great seal of the Empire.

The ends which the Chinese government had in view in this appointment are easily understood. It is only the logical result of the opening of their ports to European merchants, the toleration of missions, the reception of envoys at Pekin, the encouragement given to the introduction of European learning and manners, and the employment of Europeans in the civil service. The Chinese government, having hopelessly drifted away from its old policy of non-intercourse, is clear sighted enough to see the necessity and advantage of adopting the system of international intercourse practiced by the Western powers. In selecting Mr. Burlingame as its first ambassador it has secured the services of a man thoroughly conversant with its situation, needs and wishes, and fitted by long training in diplomacy to represent it efficiently in the European courts.

Mr. Burlingame left Pekin on the morning of November 25th. He was escorted to the gates by all the foreign residents, including his colleagues in the diplomatic body. In his suite are the late secretary of the British legation, a French gentleman lately holding a high office in the maritime customs, two mandarins, six attaches selected from the new college at Pekin, and some twenty others. The party were compelled to stop at a village about forty-five miles from Pekin, and send to that city for an armed escort to protect them from a formidable band of robbers which was scouring the district. Fortunately, they were not attacked. Mr. Burlingame probably sailed from Shanghai for San Francisco on the 15th. After spending some time at Washington, he will visit the capitals of England, France, Holland, Belgium, Prussia, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Denmark, Sweden, Norway and Russia.

A Contrite Criminal.

The story of a convict in the Charlestown (Mass.) State Prison, who has just died of consumption, is a sad one. Six or seven years ago, in the western part of the state, he fell in love with a young woman, and her friends, opposing, eloped with her. They were pursued and overtaken at a hotel, when they begged one final interview alone, and then, as he asserts, mutually agreed to commit suicide. At the last moment, however, her courage failed her, and she called upon him, as he says, to do the deed for her. He then cut her throat and his own. She died; he recovered, and was tried at Lenox and convicted of murder, but was saved from the gallows by a commutation of his sentence to imprisonment for life. Six years have elapsed and now he has passed away, after showing that he was contrite and penitent for the crime which he had committed.

On some of the late maps the Youcon river is represented as flowing into the Arctic Ocean, while on others this is but a branch of a large river which flows into the Atlantic near Behring's Straits. The latter is correct—this river being navigable for a thousand miles through the interior of the country. The country contains plenty of timber, principally pine, hemlock and cedar, and also large quantities of coal, which the Indians burn in their lodges, it being similar to Pennsylvania coal. Thermometrical observations have been regularly kept for four years at Fort Youcon, on the Youcon river, about midway between the Pacific and Arctic Oceans, showing a temperature about the same as Quebec and Montreal.

LATEST NEWS TO THE FARMERS OF North Carolina.

Your attention is called to my large stock of Agricultural Implements, Iron Steel, &c., &c.

Corn and Cotton Planters, Corn Shellers, Hay, Shuck and Corn Stalk Cutters, Fan Mills, Plows, of every kind, Harrows and Cultivators, Spades, Shovels Forks, Brier Hooks, Iron Axles, Springs, Cart & Wagon Boxes, &c.

I call particular attention to BILLUP'S CENTREBOARD COTTON SCRAPER, and to BILLUP'S DIXIE PLOW. The first is warranted to be the best Scraper ever yet invented, and the Farmers are requested to test its merits in connection with any other kind. The Dixie Plow is freer from choking than any other yet made; will pass through the ground with less power, and do better work than any other kind. This is no vain boast. 'Tis easy to claim superiority; hence I ask a trial.

If Farmers are not satisfied, the money will be refunded.
